Omnico is delighted to announce the release of ClarityLive Kiosks.

ClarityLive kiosk now gives you a true addition to reception allowing members to collect booked tickets, book now and book next week all through a simple user interface.

Today's society is comfortable and happy to use self-service options and ClarityLive Kiosks brings this option to your leisure centres.

Working alongside ClarityLive web, a member is able to book into a class, come into the site go straight to a kiosk, and collect their pre-booked ticket and book next week's session all in less than 30 seconds and under 3 clicks.

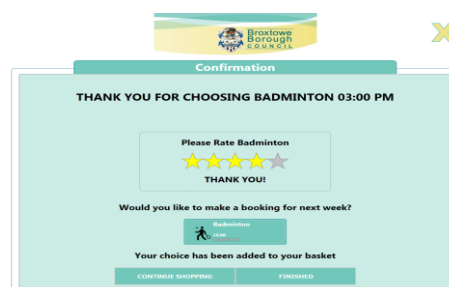

Members can use the credit they have on their account to buy activities that are not included in their membership via the kiosk. It's a simple process and much quicker than using a credit card to purchase activities!

The sticking points for centres is always the class rush and by giving members this option we believe you will cut queues and waiting times not only for the current class but for next week's bookings.
